

The International Concertina Association

Founded in 1953, to promote, maintain, and encourage the playing of concertinas of every description, the I.C.A. continues to play an important part in the revival of the instrument.

It welcomes, as members, anyone interested in any type of concertina, whether non-players, beginners, or experienced performers of any class of music.

The Association keeps you in touch with other players in your area, or throughout the world.

The Newsletter, published ten times a year, gives all the latest news and views, plus accounts of the monthly Saturday afternoon playing sessions held in London, to which all are welcome.

Festivals of concertina playing are organised periodically, and every encouragement is given to all those interested.

There is also a library of concertina music from which members can borrow.

All this for an annual subscription of only
