Dear Mr. Smith,

Many thanks for your letter of the 1st inst., but we much regret having to inform you, however, that our repair capacity is completely booked up for the next six months, and we are unable to accept any more instruments for attention.

We can only suggest that you hold the instrument until that period has expired and write us again - mentioning your previous application - when we hope to be in a better position to help you.

Again expressing regret at our inability to do anything for you on this occasion, but feeling sure you understand our position.

Yours faithfully,
C. WHEATSTONE & CO. LTD.

Dear Mr. Smith,

Thank you for your enquiry, but we are afraid the position with regard to repairs is no better than when we last wrote you. At that time we anticipated the early return of our skilled men from the services, but the unforeseen delay has disappointed us.

We are still asking all our customers to hold their instruments until we can deal with them, and hoping meanwhile that we shall not lose their goodwill in the interval.

Yours faithfully,
C. WHEATSTONE & CO. LTD.
